Improving business performance with a Skills for Life qualification

Maximise the potential of the staff you have!

- Are your staff working to the best of their potential?
- How much time do you spend troubleshooting avoidable problems?
- Do you know how much this is costing each year?
- What hidden talents lie in your workforce?

Every employee counts!

With looming skills shortages set to affect the UK, it's never been more important to maximise the potential of the staff you already have.

A Skills for Life qualification:

- is the route to a better trained, more flexible workforce
- offers a business-focussed approach to improving your employees' English and Maths
- offers free guidance and support to set up training in your company.

Why will this benefit your company?

ShIPLEY College approaches all employee training from the employer's perspective. We know that businesses need to survive, grow and be financially sound. For this reason, Skills for Life training is delivered using a practical approach that looks at English and Maths skills used in the workplace.

Your employees are using spoken/written English or Maths (often both of these) to give and receive instructions, deal with paperwork, communicate with customers etc. If they can work more efficiently, they will be a greater asset to your company. Skills for Life qualifications help to achieve this by:

- reducing errors and wastage
- improving staff motivation
- increasing productivity
- improving customer relations
- enhancing company status as a learning organisation
- contributing to an Investors in People award.

How could it be delivered for my employees?

Our Workforce Development Team want to deliver training in a way that best fits your business needs. Are there important documents or policies you want your employees to understand fully? We can include them in our training package.

Our flexible delivery methods have worked very well this year. We support employees at locations and times to suit them and their employers, using a variety of methods:

- Training at work
- Group teaching
- One-to-one tutorials
- Telephone support
- Emails
- Correspondence courses

ShIPLEY COLLEGE'S SUCCESS

Last year we had excellent results with a group of employees working for Bradford Social Services.

The Care tutor and English tutor worked together to ensure that all the training supported those skills required in the workplace. Not only did this equip the employees to provide a higher standard of service, it also supported the achievement of the NVQ2 in Health & Social Care.

The results speak for themselves: a pass rate of 100%.

It was also well received by employees. In the Student Satisfaction Survey we were very pleased to receive another 100%!

FREE training and subsidies available for eligible staff via the Train to Gain programme.
